THEATRICAL OFFERINGS

ANOTHER JACK LONDON OFFERING IS BIG SUCCESS AT POPULAR THEATER

"Valley of the Moon" is Given
Play that Proved Failure

Owing to the fact that the motion picture taken last Monday at Honolulu's principal thoroughfares and entitled "Honolulu in Midwinter," proved a failure Messrs. Blair and Bredhoff of the Popular Theater saw to it that the patrons of their theater were supplied with a bill that compares favorably with anything introduced in Honolulu under "Blair's Greater Photo Plays." Jack London's "The Valley of the Moon" was put on as an added attraction and will be repeated to night and tomorrow night.

One of Mr. Blair's initial offerings, "The Sea Wolf," established the popularity of London's works in picture form in this city and "The Valley of the Moon" is equal to "The Sea Wolf." An intimate story of a workingman seeking to escape from the confinement of the city and striving against existing conditions to make for himself and wife a home of peace and plenty, "The Valley of the Moon" is one of the best efforts of the many successes from the pen of Jack London. The picture tells the story under the direction of London and the great Bosworth studio in a manner that runs very true to the book, and anyone who has read the work will doubly appreciate the picture.

Allowing numerous opportunities for thrilling scenes the artists have taken advantage of every opportunity and the mob scene in the great Oakland teamsters' strike is vividly portrayed, hundreds of men being used in its production. The prize-fight scenes in which Billy Roberts, the hero of the work, participates, are excellently handled and are genuine pictures of fights, or rather pictures of genuine fights, the "thumbs down" attitude of the audience towards the vanquished being ably demonstrated. Incidentally, London in this work takes occasion to point in passing to the evil effects of "booze." During the strike Billy takes to drink and his manhood departs, the beast quickly rising to the surface, with the result that he is imprisoned for 30 days, during which time he comes to the conclusion that the city is no place for himself and Saxon.

After the young couple commence to travel there is introduced a great deal of the more gorgeous scenery in California, Carmel-by-the-Sea and Sonoma county being drawn upon for a large quantity of the scenic beauties.

Together with "The Ring and the Man," London's offering makes a ten-reel bill that holds the interest from start to finish.

'MASTER MIND' ORIGINAL DRAMA; IS WELL ACTED BY PLAYERS

Work of New Author at Bijou
Theater Proves Interesting
Epic of Vengeance

An original play with a unique idea is "The Master Mind," the bill at the Bijou theater for the latter part of the week. The play is the work of Daniel D. Carter, a new man in the dramatic world, and he is to be credited with combining the elements of the crook play in a new and ingenious way.

Furthermore "The Master Mind" is far better acted than anything the All-Star Players have done for some time. For one thing the roles offer more possibilities. They are real character parts without being caricature and they can be played sharply without being broad. Mr. Webb exaggerates some bits, as at the curtain of the first act, but on the whole he gives an excellent performance. He is well suited to play the suave, masterful, incisive part and he makes the most of his opportunities. Possibly nothing he has done here has been better.

"The Master Mind" is a sort of epic of vengeance. It centers on the uncanny structure reared by a man whose sole object is to crush a district attorney who has sent his brother to the gallows. As he himself says, in another connection, he has built up the entire past as his instrument to accomplish his man's ruin. He picks up a group of criminals, whom he compels to do his will through his knowledge of their records, and sets them up as a wealthy family, so that he can get his man in his grasp. Among those he has picked up is a girl wife, whom he connects with the district attorney because she once saved his life.

This girl he sends abroad to be educated, so that she can be the prosecutor's social equal. She returns and wins the prosecutor's love as per plan, and shortly after they marry. Then the latter seeks to gratify his ambition by running for governor. The Master Mind sees his opportunity. He confronts the district attorney with the fact that his wife was a wife and with the added untruth that she was a criminal, and declares his intention of exposing him and ruining his career.

But he doesn't. When he comes to the point another factor enters—love. He learns that the woman he has picked up, educated and brought back as his instrument of vengeance, has won his love, and through that love she induces him to spare her husband. Next to Mr. Webb the most effective work is that of Miss Oakley as the educated wife. She makes her part count. Cliff Thompson as a crook in evening clothes is very good, while Robert McKenzie and Marie Van Tassel are comical as two reformed crooks from the west. Guy Hinder is capable as the district attorney. The minor roles are well filled, especially that of Mr. Pryor.

CHASE TO SING AT CONCERT FOR BELGIAN RELIEF

Mrs. A. B. Ingalls has secured the assistance of H. L. Chase, baritone, for her concert at the Opera House next Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Belgian Relief Fund. Mr. Chase has been spending a couple of months in Honolulu and has sung at several private musicales and for the Morning Music Club.

Mr. Chase has had the training and experience of an artist. He studied oratorio in London with Randegger, and opera in Paris with Grandet and Sbriglia (the great teacher who changed Jean de Resk's voice from a baritone into the greatest tenor of his day).

Upon his return to America Mr. Chase remained in New York for a period. He sang important roles with the Savage Grand Opera Company in Boston and Chicago for several years. He has also toured the United States with the king of violinists, Yeasey, the great French pianist Pugno, and Gerardy, the cellist.

Mr. Chase will sing two groups of songs on Mrs. Ingalls' program. The first group are old English songs by William Wallace, little sung these days, but worthy of more frequent hearings. The second group, three songs by Bruno Huhn, are well known to all concert-goers.

ANNETTE DRAWS RECORD CROWDS TO YE LIBERTY

All Honolulu theater records are being smashed by Annette Kellermann at Ye Liberty for attendance and enthusiasm. On the opening night the immense playhouse was jammed to the walls and to the doors and many hundreds were turned away. The same scene was repeated last night and the box office receipts showed even greater than for the first night by reason of the fact that additional seats had been placed in nooks and corners and were eagerly snapped up by the long waiting line. In spite of the added seating capacity, however, hundreds were of necessity again turned away last night.

The crowd also last night was as enthusiastic and became as much worked up over the pretty and yet thrilling fairy story as the big crowd of Wednesday night. Especially when Annette fights with her enemy under the surface of the water and strangles him to death, the big house was fairly shaken by the cheers and applause. It seems rather incongruous to cheer or applaud something that is not alive, but it is a revelation of the grip which the story and action of "Neptunes Daughter" takes upon the observer. It is easily one of the greatest moving pictures which have ever been shown in Honolulu and in addition there is shown the first episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery," the most stupendous mystery story ever conceived for the movies, and Little Mary Pickford in a pretty pastoral story.

Mrs. Marshall, wife of the vice president, has joined the knitters. She sat in a stage box in the National theater, Washington, at the concert of the Philadelphia orchestra, and knit throughout the program.

Jacques Futrelle of Scituate, a son of the author of the same name who perished in the Titanic disaster, was appointed a page in the lower branch of the Massachusetts legislature.

ENTIRE CAST OF CARNIVAL OPERA READY FOR WORK

Rehearsals of "The Sho-Gun"
Bring to Front the Leading Thespians of Honolulu

Mrs. Alice Hayward, who will be seen in a leading role in "The Sho-Gun."

Bringing to the front some of Honolulu's best known thespians, rehearsals for "The Sho-Gun," George Ade's comic opera to be presented during Carnival week, are progressing to a marked degree of success under the direction of A. R. "Sunny" Cunha.

The second rehearsal was held last night in the mauka pavilion of the Young Hotel, at which time Mr. Cunha announced that the cast had been completed. The personnel is as follows:

William Henry Spangle, an energetic pilgrim ..... William Warren Gai-Hai, Sho-Gun of Ka-Choo ..... F. B. Dunwell Gen. Kee-Otori, military grandee ..... A. E. Tinker Hank-Park, astrologer and dealer in proverb ..... William Aldrich Tee-To, a despised bachelor ..... Ned Steele Beverly Dasher, ensign, U. S. N. .... Philip C. Hall Omee-Omi, widow of the former Sho-Gun ..... Miss E. M. Fairweather Princess Hunni-Bun, niece of the Sho-Gun ..... Mrs. Bessie A. Howland Dowager Hi-Faloot, first of the ex-cluesives ..... Mrs. Sallie Hume Douglas Moo-zoo May, first of the Sing-Song birds ..... Mrs. Alice Hayward Sha-Man, a high priest ..... R. T. Prince O-Hung, a messenger ..... C. W. Tinker Sing-Song girls, Korean girls, bachelors, guards, etc.

The imaginary island of Ka-Choo, somewhere in the sea of Japan, between Japan and Korea, is the place where the scenes of the opera are laid. The first act represents the ancient temple outside the city wall of Ka-Choo, and the second shows the wisteria garden of the "Forbidden City." The opera will be given on the Oahu College campus the evenings of Tuesday, Feb. 23, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.
